

Dream Big Dreams

By James Donaldson

Table of contents

Dream Big Dreams	01
Lessons	02

Dreams Big Dreams

Once upon a time, a little squirrel named Sandy had a big dream: she wanted to climb the tallest tree in the forest and see the view from above.

Her friends giggled, saying she'd never make it to the top because it was too high.

But Sandy believed in herself and decided to try anyway, determined to reach her dream.

Every day, she climbed a little higher, sometimes slipping and getting scratches on her paws from the rough bark.

On windy days, she held on tight to the branches, even though it was scary and made her want to stop.

She thought about giving up many times but kept imagining what the top would look like.

One sunny morning, Sandy finally reached the top and saw the whole forest stretching out below her.

Proud of herself, Sandy smiled and promised to always dream big, no matter what others said.

