Why I decided to do this in the first place, very random!

I saw the email from Adeel!

I was on my computer and I saw this email come to my inbox. It was Adeel talking about Scribe. This was November 2021, not long ago really.

I saw the presentation and I never really buy anything online. After seeing the software and the animated Adeel talk about Scribe, I sat back and said to myself, this is something I can use for all my online projects going forward.

After a little bit of time and completely being drawn in, I thought to myself this has to be 99.00 per month.

Then I saw the pricing, 1 time fee and I was hooked. I bought it right away and was really amazed at everything Adeel has created.

I upgraded right away and now I never have to pay again for this amazing software tool. I know software, I ran a team of programmers for years, this blows everything away.

Having a thought, and running with it, am I crazy!

I had the software for about two days playing around and seeing what it could do.

I realized I can make money on this and who could use this. I quickly thought of a Chinese company I had bought equipment from over 5 years back for another company.

The reason I went to them is I know they needed something in English to describe their huge 3D Filament machine that anyone in our part of the world can understand.

There is a language barrier going both directions, but I knew that they had their greatest sales in the English speaking world.

I really had no time to think, I just reacted!

I reacted, So I reached out to China, was it easy...

It really took me only two days to reach the owner. I had a way of getting through from digging into my address book. This really was a long shot but I JUST KNEW IT WOULD WORK.

The time difference from The East coast of the USA to China is exactly 12 hrs forward from me to them. I had to think, I know how they work in China. I then knew that between 10/11AM is usually the best time to reach the Boss. It was 10/11 PM for me. 12 hours behind them.

I used Skype because that's how we communicate between the two countries, been like that for many years and I can phone directly using Skype. It took me two days to reach the owner and I mentioned we bought equipment several years back to break the ice.

I had nothing to lose, Once I had the owner on the phone, I made my sales pitch. I said I checked your machines online and your advertising is not for the people who buy it the most, sorry but it is difficult to understand your ads.

I must have picked the perfect time, because they said that's a good idea and ask me how much.

I already had the price set at around 3k, but I thought go below, sounds better and if they say yes, it's all good from here.

I asked them, told them $2700,00, they said YES..."But it has to be good they SAID"....I said OKAY. I will have something ready in a few days, knowing the odds were in my favor.

It took me two to three days to finish it. All I did was go to their website, take some of their pictures that I knew would convince them to buy the ebook. I took a company picture with their entire team, I knew that ""was a winner"" and my "ace in the hole"

I then found and took pictures from what I had from the company that had purchased years before. I rushed it, made it, ~~~ They Bought It, ~~~ and I had $2700,00 delivered to my bank account. This all took less than ten days start to finish with my time involved. I know from Business, the longer you wait the worse it can be. Do it quick and go to the next project.
