The Default Disposition

If you are still unsaved, you are in a desperate situation. You may not realize it, but you are. It means you have an unrenewed mind that is still subject to the powers of darkness.

Even without this, your mind itself has certain built-in infirmities that render you not only incapable of doing and desiring certain things; it also renders you unwilling to do and desire these things.

There are activities and operations taking place on the inside of you right now that you are not aware of and that you are never supposed to get wind of.

It is like a hidden computer virus that has taken hold of the innermost workings of your human 'heartdrive' and is set up to work in secret as it dictates your appetites, wants and desires to such an extent that they not only become natural tendencies, but actually become the default disposition of your whole soul.

Here is the cold hard reality of the human heart – Your heart.

The inner workings of your mind and brain are relentlessly and continually conspiring against you. To explore this truth, we'll use a term and concept with which most people are already familiar.

For purposes of this tract, we'll use the words “heart” and “subconscious mind” interchangeably.

The way the mind works is that the physical brain is like the hardware while the mind is like the software. Your mind directs your brain. You have conscious control over the activities of certain parts of your brain.

You can learn, observe, differentiate, calculate, choose, and operate any function that relates to conscious thought. But there are certain aspects of your brain not directly under your control.

The Subconscious Mind

There are certain aspects of your mind not directly under your control. The same is frighteningly true of your subconscious mind.

To give you a picture of the subconscious mind, we shall use the example of an iceberg. The relatively smaller portion that we see above the water is like the conscious mind, whereas the much greater part that is submerged underwater and hidden from our view is like the subconscious mind.

The subconscious mind is far greater in terms of “size” than our conscious mind. The subconscious mind functions on automatic. Originally, it was meant to take over the functions of the body and soul that you do not consciously need to be concerned about.

For instance, if you need consciously to remember to breathe, you would die as soon as you fall asleep. So your subconscious mind takes over such activities on your behalf.
