You Are What You Are

Those who study the mind tell us that who and what we are by the age of six is fixed into our personality for life. In other words, whoever you were as a child, you still are, regardless of outward pretensions, external appearance, or social camouflage. It may be likened to a program that has been hardwired into your system and there is no way to effect intrinsic change in the depths of your soul.

Basically, you have what is called an Adamic nature. In one sense, you are a variation of Adam. Adam may hide amongst the trees of the Garden, but no matter how well he may hide, Adam cannot change. Regardless of his many clever disguises, Adam will always be Adam. You. The true you - cannot change.

You Cannot Change...But Change Is Possible

If you deny the existence of Adam, you are left with a gaping black hole that neither science nor psychoanalysis can fill.

Not only does Adam provide us with the genesis of human existence, the historical account of Adam provides us with the genesis of human behavior.

As soon as Adam ate of the fruit of the forbidden tree, at the behest of his wife, he underwent a drastic change in his moral and spiritual makeup. After this initial momentous 'change', he was locked into place forever.

He experienced powerful regressive spiritual transformation. It was instantaneous and irreversible. He was no longer eligible to partake of divinely ordained linear motion, of which we will elaborate in a bit.

You Cannot Change...But Change Is Possible

Essentially Adam came under the power of death and death is not subject to change. Death locks the soul into position and sets up an environment that is conducive only to death and decay. The only change that can be experienced in a state of death is more death. “Dying, you shall die” (Gen 2:17 margin).

The Circle of The Earth

The Bible tells us that the Lord sits upon the circle of the earth. As a side note, it is interesting how many people can see the word "circle" and still picture a "sphere" or "globe"; thus missing the point of the passage completely.

For purposes of our study we will take the "circle" of the earth to symbolize the nature of existence in the natural order.

We are going to contend that everything, whether it be history, or fashion, or business booms and busts, things tend to move in circles. At least, things that originate under the sun. We will seek to show that this is the very basis of vanity and frustration of spirit when it comes to personal change.

We will look at the cosmic whole first of all and then work our way towards the individual experience where we will seek to show why we do the very things we have promised ourselves we would never do again.

You Cannot Change...But Change Is Possible

We will show that all humans are caught up in the circle of the earth, the course of this world.

We will seek to show that personal behavior is in reality a microscopic portion of a much greater and larger system of futility. In short, we will show in several ways that change is foreign to the natural order.

We will examine and prove the thesis that there are no systems set in place to facilitate transformational change in the human condition.

We will show that all humans, left to themselves, are under a supernatural power that causes disobedience and unbelief to be the primary motivating factors in their hearts and lives (Eph 2:2).

We will show that the entire social order and psychological and moral and spiritual makeup of man is geared towards futility and the vain repetition of that which we know we ought not do.

You Cannot Change...But Change Is Possible

We will show that there is no possibility of change for any human being who resides, and looks for answers, under the sun. For under the sun, you are at the mercy of the circle of the earth, the course of this world (Eph 2:1-2).

Linear vs Circular Motion

Please allow me to explain. The realm of the redeemed moves in a linear motion. It moves in a straight line. Therefore it is able to make progress and add to its storehouse of knowledge.

The Bible likens the path of the redeemed to that of the sun in its journey from dawn to noonday. It reminds us that the path of the just is as the shining light, that shines brighter and brighter unto the perfect day (Prov 4:18).
